

Sent from my iPad

On Dec 27, 2015, at 4:09 PM, Rio :

> wrote:

There has always been a double standard for tourists. Rangers were told to just give warnings under La Bonge's regime. I think they are operating under the same old rule because nothing since has been mandated.

On Dec 27, 2015, at 3:29 PM, Rose wrote:

There seems to be a double standard with regard to enforcement of any of the traffic or fire code violations with our LAPD.

I was in my front garden when I heard an officer asking a visitor/tourist to move on that he was parked illegally in a red no stopping zone. The tourist already out of his car tried to debate with the officer that there was no other suitable place to park so he could just take a picture, the officer let him know that if he wrote him up a ticket it would be about $300 and asked him graciously to move on. I yelled out...Give him the ticket! How else are we to have some order up here if everyone just gets a slap on the hand when they obviously disregard the law when there are signs posted everywhere. If he had gotten the ticket, You know that young tourist would have been upset enough to post it on Instagram or facebook alerting everyone with a copy of his $300 ticket stating.....it's not worth it!

I was parked with the car running a while back in front of the market to drop off my dry cleaning and a traffic officer hidden behind the parking lot came to give me a ticket, even though I was already back in my car by the time he got there. There was no free pass for me a resident I paid the $100 ticket and that cured me from trying that again. While I appreciate the work the officers are doing up here today, if someone is parked illegally, or smoking, they need to enforce with the applicable tickets and fines they do not need to give anyone a free pass

Rose !

Beverly Hills, California

~~XXXXXXXXXX~~
I Market Your Home For All It's Worth!

om

Sent from my iPad

On Dec 27, 2015, at 1:33 PM, ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ wrote:

I sent this email to a few yesterday, and today, Sunday, I'm expanding the list. It is another day of dangerous chaos up here that any responsible City entity would be rushing to shut down—legal or not—and in this case most of this is illegal. It is only getting worse. The crowds up here are the worst they have ever been!!!

—Original Message—

From:

To: david.ryu <david.ryu@lacity.org>; sarah.dusseault

<sarah.dusseault@lacity.org>; catherine.landiers
 <catherine.landiers@lacity.org>
 Cc: michael.a.shull <michael.a.shull@lacity.org>; joe.salaices
 <joe.salaices@lacity.org>; kevin.regan
 <kevin.regan@lacity.org>; Beatrice.Girmala

Sent: Sat, Dec 26, 2015 8:46 pm
 Subject: Christmas in Hollywoodland

I want to give you my Christmas Day report from our neighborhood particularly since you have made the effort and covered the expenses for additional manpower, and you asked for input.

My husband and I went for a drive through the city where everything was closed. It was quiet and there was no traffic. Do you want to know where everyone was? Well not everyone, but thousands who wanted something to do on Christmas rather than staying at home. They were here. We're open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and this amusement park is free!! That is free to the visitors, but not the taxpayers that have to pay for enforcement that doesn't even scratch the surface for what's really needed, and whose cost will be a drop in the bucket compared to lawsuit payments when that pedestrian gets killed or our houses burn down. Needless to say we were not having a quiet holiday with our families. We never get a day off.

I drove around our neighborhood to see what was going on. I can only report on what I saw at that time—conditions at other times and other locations could have been better or could have been worse. I just know the visitors come in unpredictable waves.

Westshire Drive—I saw over a dozen illegally unticketed cars—some without permits and some parked in front of no parking signs. I reported it to LAPD that was sitting at the end of Beachwood. They said they would contact parking enforcement.

Deronda—The barricades were knocked over. Cars were going up Deronda. I only went as far as Deronda and Rockciff because I was afraid of being stuck at the end of Deronda. The car in front of me and the car behind me went up there though, so I can only imagine that it was a mess.

Dirt Mulholland—I saw about a half a dozen cars around the entrance. Some had a driver sitting in the car while it was illegally parked waiting for others. This is a new phenomenon that I'm also seeing on Beachwood as people try to get around the no parking signs. I did not park to see what was going on past the barricades because there is no legal place to park, but if it was typical, things there were probably pretty wild.

The View Site—It was filled with hundreds of people and looked like a concert had just let out. The crowds extended from the lower park area where a ranger was standing all the way to the corner of Durand and Mulholland. The view site is no longer just that spot but a whole area that keeps growing and getting worse. I saw LAPD at the top of the hill. Even with enforcement there were illegally parked cars facing the wrong way, and people walking in the street along narrow Mulholland with dogs and baby strollers. Some of this extremely dangerous activity was out of view of LAPD